

2021 Ridgway Town Councilors

Mayor John Clark

Mayor Clark is a native Coloradan and has lived in Ridgway since 1982. After making his living as a glass artist for a quarter century, John made the rather unconventional switch to Apple-specific computer consultant. "I enjoy helping people get along with technology, instead of feeling like they're always fighting it," he says. John was appointed to fill a vacancy on the Ridgway Town Council in 2000 and was elected mayor in April 2012. He is now in his eleventh term on Council and in his fifth term as mayor. Additionally, he has been on the Ridgway Planning Commission since the mid '80s, with only a one-year hiatus in 1999. Regarding his tenure on the Town Council and the Planning Commission, John says, "I really enjoy working in local government; it's the best. It's important to look for a balance of the best interests of everyone in Town. I care very much about our wonderful community and strive to keep it moving in a positive direction and, most importantly, at a manageable rate."

Mayor Pro Tem Russell (Russ) Meyer

Mayor Pro Tem Russ Meyer started on Ridgway Town Council in April 2019. He also serves on the Ouray County Joint Planning Board and Ouray County Water Users Association. Prior to living in Ridgway, Russ worked for Exxon/ExxonMobil for 36 years in a number of roles and assignment locations around the world including, but not limited to, Russia, China, Canada, Chad, Cameroon, and Angola. Having finished his career as a project manager on various IT/Telecommunications projects, Russ decided to run for Town Council to ensure the voice of the community was being represented. He strives to maintain the sense of community that helps to make Ridgway what it is. Russ and his wife, Crista, have been in the Ridgway area since 2012, and moved here full time in 2017.

Councilor Beth Lakin

Beth Lakin was sworn in on Town Council in April 2019. She has made Ridgway home since 2013 and teaches high school science in Ouray. Beth studied chemistry at Bates College (BS, 2008) and oceanography at Oregon State University (MS, 2010) before being called to the mountains. Beth is passionate about Ridgway, her chosen home, and is proud to look out for its best interests as a Council member. When not teaching, attending Council and committee meetings, or attending to projects at home, she can usually be found in the mountains with her beloved pup.

Councilor Terry Schuyler

Councilor Terry Schuyler began his term on the Town Council in April 2020. Terry moved to Colorado in 1982 to work at the Solar Energy Research Institute (now NREL) in Golden, CO. He has worked in the solar industry for more than 42 years. Terry now serves as the Energy Services and Key Accounts Executive at SMPA here in Ridgway, where he manages the renewable energy programs. Terry relocated from a remote mountain area west of Fort Collins in 2017 to build his home here and has become involved locally in the Ridgway Ouray Community Council's Clean Energy and Dark Sky Committees, the Sneffels Energy Board, and the Ouray Elks Lodge. His pastimes include all things outdoors (hiking, biking, tele-skiing) and at lower altitudes, scuba diving and underwater photography. Terry "gets his cowboy on" as a member of the Single Action Shooting Society. You may see him out with his two Malamutes, Kaya and Chief Niwot.

Councilor Kevin Grambley

Councilor Kevin Grambley was elected to Ridgway Town Council in April 2020. Kevin first arrived in Southwest Colorado during the winter of 1997/98 and moved to Ridgway full time in 2006. His background includes a degree in Economic Geography from Pennsylvania State University (BS, 1997) and a near 20-year career in aerial surveying and remote sensing that has taken him to project sites in 26 different countries worldwide. Kevin shares his life here in Ridgway with his wife, Ashley, and their three pups. When not working, Kevin can generally be found soaking up the sun on the sidewalk or enjoying live music at the Sherbino Theater. Kevin is passionate about our little town, "the center of the universe," as he likes to call it, and is thrilled to be an active participant in Ridgway's future.

Councilor Angela Ferrelli

Angela Ferrelli was appointed to fill the seat vacated by Tessa Cheek in December 2020 and was sworn in January 2021. Angela has chosen to make Ridgway her home since 2011 and works at Bluecorn Beeswax, a local candle company. She holds a BS in Environmental Anthropology which she received from Juniata College in 2009. Angela is excited to help Ridgway fulfill the goals and implementable action steps laid out in the Town Master Plan, adopted in 2019. Outside of Town Council, Angela enjoys being out in nature; whether that is walking around town, hiking in the beautiful mountains, or enjoying a good book under a shady tree in the summer – there is never too much fresh air for her.

Councilor Adam Beck

Councilor Adam Beck was appointed to fill a vacant seat and was sworn in May of 2021. Adam and his wife enjoy being members of the Ridgway community and have called it home since 2016. Graduating from the University of Colorado with a degree in economics, he found himself in the world of architectural commercial lighting. Throughout his illuminating career, he's been able to live and work in many mountain towns of Colorado, "Ridgway being the gem of them all." And like many in town, you'll usually find him out on the surrounding trails or on the water at the reservoir.
