

2025 Ridgway Town Councilors

Mayor John I. Clark

Mayor Clark is a native Coloradan and has lived in Ridgway since 1982. After making his living as a glass artist for a quarter century, John made the rather unconventional switch to Apple-specific computer consultant. "I enjoy helping people get along with technology, instead of feeling like they're always fighting it," he says. John was appointed to fill a vacancy on the Ridgway Town Council in 2000 and was elected mayor in April 2012. He is now in his eleventh term on Council and in his fifth term as mayor. Additionally, he has been on the Ridgway Planning Commission since the mid '80s, with only a one-year hiatus in 1999. Regarding his tenure on the Town Council and the Planning Commission, John says, "I really enjoy working in local government; it's the best. It's important to look for a balance of the best interests of everyone in Town. I care very much about our wonderful community and strive to keep it moving in a positive direction and, most importantly, at a manageable rate."

Mayor Pro Tem Beth Lakin

Beth Lakin was sworn in on Town Council in April 2019. She has made Ridgway home since 2013 and teaches high school science in Ouray. Beth studied chemistry at Bates College (BS, 2008) and oceanography at Oregon State University (MS, 2010) before being called to the mountains. Beth is passionate about Ridgway, her chosen home, and is proud to look out for its best interests as a Council member. When not teaching, attending Council and committee meetings, or attending to projects at home, she can usually be found in the mountains with her beloved pup.

Councilor Terry Schuyler

Councilor Terry Schuyler began his term on the Town Council in April 2020. Terry moved to Colorado in 1982 to work at the Solar Energy Research Institute (now NREL) in Golden, CO. He has worked in the solar industry for more than 42 years. Terry now serves as the Energy Services and Key Accounts Executive at SMPA here in Ridgway, where he manages the renewable energy programs. Terry relocated from a remote mountain area west of Fort Collins in 2017 to build his home here and has become involved locally in the Ridgway Ouray Community Council's Clean Energy and Dark Sky Committees, the Sneffels Energy Board, and the Ouray Elks Lodge. His pastimes include all things outdoors (hiking, biking, tele-skiing) and at lower altitudes, scuba diving and underwater photography. Terry "gets his cowboy on" as a member of the Single Action Shooting Society. You may see him out with his two Malamutes, Kaya and Chief Niwot.

Councilor Kevin Grambley

Councilor Kevin Grambley was elected to Ridgway Town Council in April 2020. Kevin first arrived in Southwest Colorado during the winter of 1997/98 and moved to Ridgway full time in 2006. His background includes a degree in Economic Geography from Pennsylvania State University (BS, 1997) and a near 20-year career in aerial surveying and remote sensing that has taken him to project sites in 26 different countries worldwide. Kevin shares his life here in Ridgway with his wife, Ashley, and their three pups. When not working, Kevin can generally be found soaking up the sun on the sidewalk or enjoying live music at the Sherbino Theater. Kevin is passionate about our little town, "the center of the universe," as he likes to call it, and is thrilled to be an active participant in Ridgway's future.

Councilor Polly Kroger

Councilor Polly Enochs was elected to Ridgway Town Council in April 2022. Polly was born in Colorado and split her time between Southwestern Ohio and Empire, CO growing up. After moving to Colorado full-time in 2009 she spent her time primarily on the front range. After an epic road trip, where she discovered the beauty of the western slope, she moved to Ridgway full time in 2018. Her background includes a degree in Psychology from Colorado State University (BS, 2014) and years of customer service, hospitality, and sales. Polly shares her life here in Ridgway with her husband, Nick. When not working, Polly can generally be found enjoying the sun on hikes with Nick, performing music with one of several bands she is a singer in, or cooking for friends. Polly loves this town and is passionate about keeping the small town feel in the midst of the inevitable changes coming. Polly could not be more excited to be of service to the community.

Councilor Josey Scoville

Councilor Josey Scoville began her term on the Ridgway Town Council in April of 2024. She first visited Ridgway in 2002 before moving to Ridgway full-time in 2004. Josey and her husband, Charlie, keep busy running their concrete company while raising two children who both attend the Ridgway School District.

Josey's schooling background includes graduating Magna Cum Laude from Concordia College in Moorhead, MN with Bachelor of Arts degrees in both Business & French, as well as completing her International Business Degree while attending university in Rennes, France. Since moving to Ridgway over 20 years ago, she has worked in a variety of industries, including restaurants, office management, property management, marketing, and medical administration.

When not busy with work and children, you'll find Josey rafting, snowboarding, and traveling – but always with the joy & peace in her heart knowing that she is one of the lucky ones who get to call Ridgway home. Josey is excited to represent our community and do her best to ensure all local's voices and opinions are heard.
