Ridgway Youth Advisory Council Launches Community Suggestion Boxes

Ridgway, CO – The Town Ridgway Youth Advisory Council is announcing the launch of new community suggestion boxes. The suggestion boxes are meant as a crowdsourcing tool for residents to leave comments, ideas, concerns, and suggestions with the goal of improving Town functions, facilities, and programs. The Youth Advisory Council is interested in the opinions and ideas of their peers and Town residents and strongly encourages anyone providing a suggestion to express themselves freely.

“The suggestion boxes will allow our residents to play a significant role in the way the Town governs and operates, said Anna Bartschi, a senior at Ridgway Secondary School and mayor of the Youth Advisory Council. “I’m looking forward to hearing what everyone has in mind.”

One suggestion box is located at the front window of Ridgway Town Hall, located at 201 N. Railroad St. The other is located at the office of Ridgway Secondary School.
